Household need to be on the Heating Program before they qualify for cooling assistance with the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe. Air Conditioners are provided to those that are in great need, the program starts with the elderly, disabled, children with breathing problems. They will not receive an air conditioner for 6 years after they once receive one, they sign an agreement that they are total responsible to maintain it. However, consideration will be taken if mother nature plays a role. The client won't qualify for an air conditioner if there home has central air. We get a housing list from the renters verifying if they have central air.

3.4 Describe how you prioritize the provision of cooling assistance to vulnerable populations, e.g., benefit amounts, early application periods, etc.

Households having to be on the heating program before they qualify for the cooling assistance. The amount will be done after the regular LIHEAP is completed. The list is then given to the two vendors the clients use with there name, unit no.. location then the vendor will look over the list of clients names and return it to the office with information with the clients who are still active or inactive along with there account number if the electric meter is not in the clients name and is not on the application they will not receive Household Cooling (meaning if they move) then the amount is determined for each client. The Household Cooling is usually given out in August which is when the client could use it due to the hot weather and school starting back up. Households do not have to come in and do another application as it is included in there application due to unnecessary paperwork. To minimize the number of trips the clients need to make. Phone applicaiton with the elderly.
